ANNEX I

MEMORIAL (Master's Degree)

The Selection Committee uses the Memorial as a tool to analyze the candidate's profile, looking at their academic and professional career.

When writing their Memorial, Master's candidates present a retrospective of their experiences as a student and/or professional. Based on this reflection, they explain the main reasons that encourage them to apply for a Master's degree in Sociology and Political Science at PUCRS.

It is suggested to write a Memorial in this way:

PART 1 - the candidate presents the most relevant aspects of their career - intellectual and professional background - analyzing them critically and/or relating them to their choice of Master's Degree in Sociology and Political Science.

PART 2 - the candidate briefly presents the topic he/she intends to investigate, indicating one of the four lines of research of the Graduate Program in Sociology and Political Science¹ with which he/she could possibly articulate, as well as his/her interests and possible research procedures.

In terms of format, the Memorial should be presented in accordance with the following rules: no more than 10 pages (with bibliography); Times New Roman or Arial font; size 12; 1.5 spacing; author/date; explanatory notes, where necessary, at the bottom of the page itself.

¹For more information on the lines of research of the Graduate Program in Sociology and Political Science at PUCRS, we recommend candidates to consult the website: <https://portal.pucrs.br/ensino/escola-de-humanidades/#mestrado-e-doutorado>
